Countians, Engineer Meet —

Milam LR Floods Discussed In City

A two-hour session March 15 between Col. R. P. West, Ft. Worth district engineer of U. S. Army Engineer Corps, and 20 property owners, along Little River aired grievances about flooding in bottomlands.

During point-blank question and answer sessions with the Milam Countians, Col. West assured the group he would take a personal interest in Milam flooding problems.

This week, he called Radio Station KMIL to give warning reports on the amount of water being released from Belton Reservoir, cause of Milam interest in rectifying flood water damage.

Held at the Citizens Room of the Citizens National Bank, the meeting was the first in Cameron between Corps of Engineers representatives and Milam County property owners since flood waters have menaced bottomland farming.

A resolution by the Milam Commissioners Court about four weeks ago set the stage for the meeting with Col. West. Letters from Sen. William Blakley, Cong. W. R. Poage, Vice-President Lyndon Johnson and Sen. Ralph Yarborough noted that federal leadership took notice of the problem.

Armed with maps of Little River and aerial photos, Col. West explained the engineering problems briefly before questions from the group began.

A major question was raised about the Engineers' interpretation of releasing flood waters "as quickly as possible." Col. West had asserted it was a matter of judgment, based upon safety requirements at Belton, when excess waters were released below the dam and into Little River.

Hagan Bros. Circus

To Be In Cameron

Tuesday; Two Shows

If you hear the music of a callopie or see an elephant walking down the street Tuesday, don't be alarmed.

It only heralds the arrival of Hagan Bros. Three Ring Circus to Cameron for its one day showing consisting of two performances at 2:30 and 8 p. m.

The Cameron Lions Club is sponsoring the "Big Show" to raise money for local charity and at the same time give the children of the area a chance to see one of the few remaining tented circuses.

There will be cages of jungle animals, elephants, trained horses and ponies, guanacos, llamas and other oddities of the animal world. And in addition to the traveling zoo, there will be numerous performers representing 12 foreign countries.

Among the featured performers will be Speed Hart and his host of clowns, Miguel and Dolores, stars of the wire act, the Riding Bantas, a family of Australian bareback riders, the Sanchez Sisters, of Spain, performing on the trapeze, and Col. E. J. Bradley, western cowboy noted for his trick roping.

Visitors will be welcomed on the showgrounds, located at National Hall Field during the morning hours.

March 31 Meeting

County officials have announced a meeting for property owners along Little River Basin for 7:30 p. m. Friday, March 31 at Milam District Courtroom.

Plans will be discussed on speeding the construction of flood retarding structures in Milam County, officials said. "We hope to have a big turnout of landowners including those affected on the San Gabriel and Brushy Creek," they announced.

Several landowners emphasized the need for considering the release of water when annual, five-month dry periods allowed more latitude for the river bottom taking extra water loads.

Col. West said that he "wished I could tell you I could cut flow of Belton Reservoir, but the law tells me when I have to discharge it."

The Colonel, a native of Texas himself, did say: ONE — He would consider the Little River bottomland in Milam County a part of the Stillhouse Hollow Project and recommend use of an estimated $300,000 of a proposed $500,000 appropriation after the new fiscal year July 1. But he added that planning would take about two years before channel improvement and rectification could take place.

TWO — He recommended that property owners along Little River organize a levee district to build levees along Little River. Then, he said, Corps of Engineers could come in and repair them when damaged.

THREE — He assured taking "personal interest" in the project. See Floods Page 6

Residents Seek New Surface On E. Fourth St.

The City Council Tuesday called for final preliminary legal work to clear the way for paving on E. 11th St. from Ben Milam School to North Jackson.

And they received a petition from two residents on E. Fourth St., requesting paving according to the co-operative program of city-property owner established by the city.

Pat Sanders and Paul Laake asked Council consideration for the paving of E. Fourth St. and presented a petition signed by 12 residents along the street.

Councilman Richard Moseley later made a motion that in paving street projects the city should curb and gutter all property that is not voluntarily curbed and guttered unless there is a homestead exemption. The Council approved the motion by unanimous vote.

The motion followed discussion of individual difficulties in curbing and guttering streets where paving is desired by citizens.

Mayor Coleman Duncum noted that Killeen and many cities have mandatory ordinances requiring curb and gutter when paving projects are done.

He urged that all mechanic's liens and notes with property owners be completed before E. 11th St. paving starts. Two residents along the street are doing contact work on the project, which is to be a 30-foot wide street. Councilmen told Sanders and Laake they would get estimates on the costing of paving E. Fourth St. and notify residents there.

City Public Works Supt. J. B. Earle told The Herald that other construction work is being accomplished at: DRAINAGE — E. 18th, E. 15th, and Burns St.

PAVING — Grades have been set on E. Ninth St. and E. 11th St. PAINTING — Park equipment in the City Park on Fourth St. has been repainted.

In other action, the Council: ONE — Approved Ray Green and Make McDermott, Cameron college students, to manage the Municipal Swimming Pool in Wilson - Ledbetter Park. The two young men operated the pool last summer.

TWO — Okayed a $25 monthly salary increase to Pat McCall, radio dispatcher, raising his salary to $150 a month.

THREE — Authorized Mayor Duncum to request Cameron service station dealers to use a different kind of cleaning agent in their driveways. State highway officials have reported that concrete aprons at Fourth St. intersections may not solve the problem caused by detergents eating into asphalt paving.

FOUR — Approved purchase of tires for city police car from Burkes - Howard Chevrolet Co.

FIVE — Heard a report that City Equalization Board members will meet 10 a. m. Monday to start 1961 - 62 equalization.

Highway Engineer Tells Lions Need For Good Roads

Carol Ziegler, State Highway Department, singled out acquisition of Right of Way as the major bottleneck in highway construction throughout the state in a talk before Cameron Lions Monday.

Ziegler, Senior Resident Engineer for Milam and Robertson Counties said there were 250 miles of state maintained roads in Milam County at present with several projects including F-M and 43 77 South of Rockdale ready to be started in the near future.

Health Unit Now In New Quarters

Work continued at two major construction sites as the Milam Health Department was moved into new quarters this week.

Exterior masonry work was scheduled to be completed this month on the new First Baptist Church.

Interior construction was moving at steady pace on the Colonial styled balcony and main floor of the sanctuary.

And workmen continued construction on the interior of Newton Memorial Hospital where installation has been placed in the ceiling of building.

In other expansion news, The Coca-Cola Bottling Co. of Cameron has placed a huge automatic bottle washer in operation. A hydrologist has completed test runs on the machine which increases the bottle capacity of the plant to about 150 bottles per minute. The machine is about the size of semi-truck trailer.

The Milam Health unit moved into remodeled quarters at 113 Houston St., formerly used by Culepper Furniture Store. New quarters are about 75 percent larger than the basement offices at 116 Gillis St.

Partitions have been built for offices for the unit director, county sanitarian, public health nurse and clerk. There is also a lab. See — Health Unit — Page 6

Milam County was one of few counties in Texas that failed to be represented on the April 4 ballot for U. S. Senator.

This is obvious overstatement. But it can be said that about 40 counties had candidates for the U. S. Senate post up for grabs.

It is interesting to see which counties had the most candidates. We cite the official Ballot and count:

Harris County (Houston): 15 candidates.

Dallas County (Dallas): 7 candidates.

Bexar County (San Antonio): 8 candidates.

Tarrant County (Fort Worth): 3 candidates.

Wichita County (Wichita Falls): 2 candidates.

Collin County (McKinney): 2 candidates.

We might get the idea that the metropolitan districts are just naturally more interested in civics. Or we might suspect they have ambitions.

This is a record year for candidates, the final total being 71. One candidate withdrew.

Leaders in polls, campaigning and potential vote appeal include: incumbent Sen. William A. Blakley, State Atty - General Will Wilson, Congressman Jim Wright, Maury Maverick, Jr., Henry B. Gonzalez and John G. Tower, the only Republican.

Other candidates include Bing Crosby's father - in-law, Delbert E. Grandstaff and numerous private citizens and professional people.

No one expected the tremendous lineup of candidates, least of all the front runners. And the voter will spend more than a few minutes scratching out all those names except his choice.

INCIDENTAL — This is the 52nd and final edition of Ol' 101. Next week, barring the unexpected, this column will be a year older, along with the opening of The Herald's 102nd year of publication.

Feature Honors Weekly Editor

The newspaper editor - husband of a former Cameronite has been profiled in a feature story of The Publisher's Auxiliary, national trade publication of weekly newspapers.

His is Maurice Patrick O'Leary, publisher - editor of the La Conner, Wash., Puget Sound Mail. His wife is the former Mary Katherine Lawrence of Cameron. She assists in the publication of the weekly newspaper.

The Publisher's Auxiliary story in the March 4 edition, recounts O'Leary's beginning in the newspaper business and the unique disasters that struck The Mail and its owners.

Two hundred tons of rock tumbled into the back of The Mail's two story building in 1958 demolishing the entire rear wall of the structure. When things looked hopeless, the residents of LaConner gave O'Leary $1400 to help repair the damages. The town nestles in a mountainous area in Washington.

La Conner residents also joined in to haul away the debris and break up boulders up to 30 tons in size. He was back in business.

The colorful Irishman, a dedicated journalist, endured other catastrophes. Upon returning from 40 months during World War II in the Army, he faced rebuilding The Mail whose equipment was scattered around the town. A fire had burned a seed plant in which the weekly newspaper had been printing.

He arranged the purchase of new equipment on credit, in the process also buying a home. A few years later, when the home was almost paid for, a fire severely damaged the 11-room house $8,000 beyond his insurance coverage. He and Mrs. O'Leary rebuilt.

The Auxiliary story traced O'Leary's start from a handyman in the shop of his home town's weekly paper, The Farm News Bureau. He later managed the paper at nearby Coupeville. He won a state award for community service, which he repeated later at the Farm News Bureau.

Then he bought The Puget Sound Mail at a sheriff's sale in 1940, rapidly built it up just as World War II caused the loss of advertising revenues. He then joined the Army.

O'Leary was born on a farm near Oak Harbor, Wash., and graduated from high school there. Before the Depression and his mother's illness forced him from school, he had completed two years at the University of Washington.

This was the substance of The Publisher's Auxiliary's tribute to Maurice O'Leary.

He was a visitor in Cameron about two years ago. His wife's family and Cameron people who met him know that he earned the tribute.

Banquet Report

Clark Advocates State Sales Tax

Edward Clark, main Cameron Chamber banquet speaker, last Thursday advocated a retail sales tax to meet the financial needs of Texas.

The Austin banker - attorney and former secretary of state favored the sales tax of three broad-based proposals now before the Texas Legislature:

1. Corporate income tax
2. Personal income tax
3. General sales tax

Clark said the current Legislature will adopt one of the three.

He was introduced by Lester Williams, Cameron banker and chairman of the Chamber industrial committee.

Another highlight of the evening was the presentation of the McCullin Citizenship award to Dr. S. H. Richardson, 1960 Chamber president, by Francis Cox, Yoe

High School band director and last year's McCullin winner. Dr. Richardson was cited for his work on the Cameron School Board, Quarterback Club, United Fund, First Baptist Church and numerous county and state medical organizations.

Dr. Richardson earlier introduced his successor, Richard E. Williams vice - president of the First National Bank, as 1961 Chamber president.

Williams promised his best efforts in the new Chamber year and assured the audience of about 250 that membership would be a primary goal in his administration. He then introduced eight outgoing directors and eight new three-year directors.

Cox led a 12-piece swing band in three numbers following Williams. See — CLARK — Page 6

By Robert Stonedale
Cameron Herald Correspondent

MONTGOMERY — While the world waits to learn if the recently installed Northern administration will attempt the use of force against the Confederate States of America, several of the powerful Border States whose natural interest lie to the South have not yet determined the course they will follow in the event of war.

In recent public statements, responsible public leaders in both countries have examined the causes of the schism between the sections, and concluded that while their separation was inevitable, war is not.

Commander Raphael Semmes, Confederate States Navy, pointed out to Border States officials in Washington last week, that the Southern States joined the original Union only after much debate and careful examination of the constitutional guarantees provided for the protection of their rights.

"At the time the Union was established," he reminded his listeners, "it was obvious that the North, especially New England, was unsuitable for profitable agriculture and was destined for enormous growth in industry and population in contrast to the pastoral and agriculture South. For this reason great constitutional safeguards were provided to insure that the Southern minority would be protected from the tyranny of a larger industrialized section."

Other distinguished leaders in both the North and South agree that the guarantees established 73 years ago took the form of provisions emphasizing the sovereignty of the States and prohibiting their coercion by the central power.

Relying on these safeguards, the South furnished the old Union with most of its leaders, shed its blood on hallowed battlefields from New England to the City of Mexico, and contributed the major portion of the National revenue. Its reward has been perjury.

The Yankees, growing jealous of the wealth, power and aristocracy of the South, first attempted to destroy Southern leadership in National affairs by erecting high tariff barriers which would favor their inferior produce and force poverty upon their fellow citizens; the goods of Europe being vital to Southern prosperity.

In the presence of such a tariff the South would be forced to buy the overpriced products of the Yankee factories thus subsidizing the North's political and industrial ambitions while contributing to its own financial ruin.

Southern representatives were able to block these attempts in the Congress, and the New Englanders tried another tact.

Seizing upon the South's peculiar institution, they have uttered every lie and falsehood to which they could lay tongue in the attempt to disguise their aversion as a moral crusade.

By these attacks they excited the more ignorant of their citizens, and created the Abolitionist group openly dedicated to the destruction of States sovereignty and Southern interests.

The final tragedy took place November. Splitting on economic and with issues, the heretofore responsible citizenry of the North lost sight of the principal that governed the great Republic and divided their votes between the two candidates dedicated to the preservation of the Constitution.

As a result Abraham Lincoln and the Black Republicans have been permitted to sneak into power with a fraction of the total vote cast by the Nation as a whole.

It was immediately obvious that at the people of the South must, in consequence, either resign themselves to the destruction of their Constitutional rights or regrettably abandon an association whose benefits had been terminated by the people of the North. The alternative would have been insurrection and civil war.

Choosing instead the path of honor first followed by the Founding Fathers, they solved the problem by establishing a new government, thus permitting their former compatriots to follow what choice they may.

The step has found universal approval in the opinions of intelligent and educated people in the North and in the rest of the civilized world.

Mr. Horace Greeley, distinguished editor of the New York Tribune and a long time supporter of the Republican party, has been among the first to agree.

"The Cotton States decided that they can do better out of the Union. I insist on letting them go in peace," he said recently. "The right to secede may be a revolutionary right, but it exists nevertheless."

At a Union party banquet in New York last week he said, "The Declaration of Independence justified the secession of three million of colonists in 1776. I do not see why it should not justify the secession of five million of Southerners in 1861."

Mr. Thurlow Weed, one of the most prominent of Republican politicians, stated in New York last month that he could not avoid admitting the virtue of the Southern decision.

"I sympathize with the South," he said. "Their rights have been invaded to the extreme limit possible within the forms of the constitution; their feelings have been insulted, their interests and honor assailed by almost every form of invective. All the instincts of manhood rightfully impell them to resort to secession from the Union."

In choosing to form a new and separate Nation comprised of peoples whose interests and concept of government are similar, the people of the South have chosen the path of dignity, virtue and devotion to the great Jeffersonian principle that governments can only derive power from the just consent of the governed.

Driven from the bosom of the nation they helped found by slanders, attacks, and provocations they have refused to submit to threatened tyranny and have erected a new and noble bastion dedicated to the preservation of individual liberties.

Pecan Scab Disease Told

By J. D. Moore,
Milam County Agent

This disease should be understood now because this summer and fall is too late to become concerned. Pecan scab is caused by a fungus and is the most destructive disease of pecans in Texas.

The fungus invades the young, rapidly growing shoots and leaves and later the developing nuts. The scab fungus overwinters in infected shoots and in old shucks and leaves in the trees. In the spring when temperature and moisture conditions become favorable, the fungus begins to grow in shoot lesions, old leaves and shucks, and within a few days produce great numbers of spores. These spores are spread by wind and rain to newly developed leaves where they germinate and invade the tender tissues, initiating primary infection. The spore build - up increases and spreads through the leaves to the pecans as they develop.

Pecan Scab Control - Control depends primarily on the protection of tender leaf, nut and shoot surfaces with proper application of an effective fungicide. A protective film of fungicide chemical prevents scab fungus infection by killing the spores. Zineb at the rate of two pounds per 100 gallons of water should be applied when the new leaves are 1-3 grown.

The second application at the same rate should be applied when the tips of the small nuts have turned brown. This application of Zineb can be mixed with the case-bearer spray and applied at the same time.

The third spray composed of Zineb at the same rate plus two pounds of zinc sulphate to control rosette should be applied 3 to 4 weeks following the second spray.

Control Aphids (Plant lice) Now Aphids are among the first insects to appear in the spring. They give birth to their young causing heavy infestations. The adult aphids give off a "honey dew" ideal for the later development of "Sooty Mold" a black discoloration over the surface of the leaves and fruit of plants.

Control - Use Malathion or parathion, at the rate of 2 teaspoons to one gallon of water.

Peach and Plum sprays can start now - Spray trees at two week intervals using malathion at the rate of 3 tablespoons to 3 gallons of water. Add 9 tablespoons of wettable sulphur for brown rot control.

Web Worms - Spray with 4 tablespoons of 50 per cent wettable DDT or 40 per cent Toxaphene or Parathion at the rate of 1 tablespoon to 1 gallon of water.

On Feb. 27, 1954, the first steam catapult ever installed on a Navy ship was tested aboard the aircraft carrier USS Hancock at the Puget Sound Naval Shipyard, Bremerton, Wash.

Should disease strike your crops or lawns, an accurate diagnosis is essential for the planning of a preventive program.

4-H Club Notes

By Pat. C. Garner
Ass't Milam County Agent

Competition will be very close in the County Broiler Show on April 29. Reports indicate that all the broilers are doing very well.

Since the weather is getting warmer, proper ventilation of the birds is very important. Too much heat will hinder the progress of the birds. In the broiler house, windows should be opened during the warm days to allow plenty of circulation of fresh air. As the weather continues to get warmer fans can be used to circulate the air in the broiler house. Remember, the ideal temperature in the broiler house should be 55 degrees.

Feeder space is also very important in producing good broilers. Broilers will need four inches of feeder space per bird from now until show time.

Birds should have at least six inches of good litter to prevent them getting breast blisters. The litter should be stirred once each week to prevent packing.

Good quality broilers can only be produced by using the proper ration. The development of the birds can be hindered by trying to cut feed costs. From one day old to 6 weeks, the broilers should be fed a ration consisting of a broiler starter containing at least 22 per cent protein and the added fat should be above 3 per cent. From 6 weeks to ten days prior to the show, the ration should be a broiler finisher containing 18 per cent protein and 3 per cent or above, added fat.

Ten days before the show, take 1 pound of corn gluten meal, one pound of cracked corn and mix them with 8 pounds of the broiler finisher. Fed this ration until 3 days before the show. Mix 1-2 cracked corn and 1-2 finisher and feed the last 3 days before the show.

A meeting will be held in Rockdale on Saturday, March 25, 2 p. m. in the Chamber of Commerce office in the City Hall, to organize a Community 4-H Club.

A program concerning 4-H activities and demonstrations will be given by the county extension agents.

Anyone interested, is cordially invited to attend the meeting.

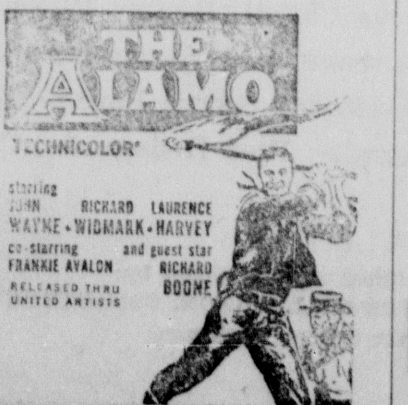

The 4-H Junior Sheep Club will meet Monday at 4 p. m. in the county extension office in Cameron.

Help For Growers With Diseased Plants Available

COLLEGE STATION — Should disease strike your crops or lawn plants, an accurate diagnosis is essential in order to help plan a preventive program. Aid in diagnosing the disease can be obtained by consulting your local county agricultural extension agent, nurseryman or pest control operator. Texas A & M College operates diagnostic laboratories at College Station and Weslaco.

A pathologist is available for consultation at each of the laboratories, says Dr. David W. Rosberg, head, Department of Plant Physiology and Pathology, Texas A & M College. They are anxious to work with the growers of Texas on plant disease control problems and Rosberg offers the following suggestions to aid growers in making the most efficient use of the laboratories.

To permit the pathologist the best opportunity to make an accurate diagnosis, the grower should first visit or contact his county agricultural agent and obtain a Plant Disease Diagnostic Laboratory form D-418. The grower should follow directions on the form and mail the specimen to the nearest laboratory.

What can you expect from such a diagnostic service? If possible, the pathologist will give a tentative diagnosis and suggest a program to bring the plant disease problem under control. Frequently, Dr. Rosberg says, it is necessary to make additional tests to determine the actual cause of the trouble. In any case, he continues, the laboratory will give the information to the grower as soon as possible.

If additional information is desired, contact the extension plant pathologist at College Station or Weslaco or local county extension agents.

SPRING IS BURSTING OUT ALL OVER

Spring is bursting out all over, and that means it's time for cleaning and fixing up our homes. Some of you may be redecorating and changing the color scheme in your favorite room. To help with your decor, we have nine beautiful colored telephones to select from. Telephones in color give the extra touch of elegance and luxury to your home.

More and more people are discovering the convenience of having more than one telephone in the house. Phones in the kitchen, bedroom, playroom, workshop, or patio soon prove their value in time and convenience. And you'll be pleasantly surprised at the small monthly cost of more phones in your home.

Why not call or come down to see Mrs. Barron or Mrs. Rentchler in our business office. There's nothing they like better than to talk about the beautiful colored and princess telephones that do so much to give your favorite rooms a lift.

GIVE AREA CODE NUMBER

It's a mighty pleasant feeling when someone goes out of his way just to tell you that you were right about something. I had that experience the other day. A man walked up and said, "Mr. Carson, I tried giving the operator the Area Code Number on my call to Houston, and, it did go through faster than ever before!"

My friend and I had discussed Area Code Numbers over a cup of coffee last week. I told him how the United States and Canada had been divided into about 100 different calling zones, each with a different number.

Now, when you want to place a long distance call, all you have to do is say, "Operator, I want Houston, Texas, Area Code 713." Then give her the Houston telephone number. You'll see, just like my friend, that your call will go through faster than ever.

Jot down the Area Code Numbers on your frequently called long distance numbers as the operator gives them to you. Next time you call, be sure and use this code number. It will save time.

NEW COMMUNICATIONS SATELLITE ON THE WAY

The success of Project Echo — the communications satellite launched last fall and still orbiting the earth — proved that communications signals may be transmitted over great distances by controlled satellites.

The Bell System plans to launch additional communications satellites throughout this year.

These experimental satellites will test transmission of voice and television signals, as well as other types of communications.

These experiments could lead to a world-wide space communications network capable of handling television programs and overseas telephone calls.

THE ALAMO — John Wayne's $12 million film "The Alamo" comes to Cameron Thursday at the Milam Theatre. It will play for a full week. The film, which tells the story of the Texas Soldiers in the Alamo, was filmed in Texas.

'The Alamo' To Show At Milam

One of the most exciting sequences in John Wayne's $12 million film, "The Alamo" is the driving of a herd of bawling, wild, "snaky" Longhorn steers down the main street of San Antonio, through the Mexican army camp and into the besieged Alamo mission to provide food for the gallant defenders.

Driving these wild cattle into the narrow gate of the Alamo was almost as difficult as threading a needle with a rope and the wild charge of the Longhorns should thrill the most jaded moviegoer.

Long before Producer-director John Wayne first arrived on the set near Brackettville, he said he wanted authentic Longhorns for this wild, tempestuous action. With the help of friends, about 400 rare Texas Longhorns were rounded up.

Because of the importance of the Wayne film, and true Texas friendship and patriotism, the ranchers agreed to use of their steers without charge, although they had obtained as much as $150 a day for each steer in previous film rentals. Wayne insured each animal for $1,500.

Three of the Longhorns were killed in the wild action. Their head were mounted and given by Wayne to the owners.

"The Alamo" will be a "shot in the arm" for free men everywhere. In this cynical age, "The Alamo" makes dying for one's country believable and very much worthwhile.

With the U. S. locked now with the Communists in a struggle for national survival, "The Alamo" tells a glorious and hopeful story. Each of the 185 defenders of "The Alamo" lost his life, but they destroyed 1,700 soldiers of the Mexican dictator, General Santa Anna, during the 13-day siege, which ended March 6, 1836, and bought time for General Sam Houston to assemble an army of citizen-soldiers which April 21, 1836 won Texas' independence at San Jacinto.

The heroism of The Alamo defenders, so graphically and eloquently told in the movie, is without parallel in warfare. "Thermopylae had her messenger of defeat; the Alamo had none."

The defense of the Alamo fathered Texas, for without the heroic defense of this mission - fort there would have been no battle of San Jacinto and the winning of Texas independence.

"The Alamo" was filmed in Texas - on the 22,000-acre James T. (Happy) Shahan cattle ranch near Brackettville.

Distinguished Texans, notably O. J. McCullough of Houston and Clint Murchison of Dallas invested heavily in the $12 million movie spectacular.

THD Sends Check
For Milam Payment

AUSTIN — A check for $1,513.50 for right of way payment was sent to Milam County today by the Texas Highway Department.

The sum forwarded is the state's share of the cost of the land needed on U. S. Hwy. 77, between Rockdale and Minerva.

The check will be transmitted by District Engineer C. B. Thames of Bryan to the Milam County commissioners Court.

While county and state share the cost of the right of way, the Texas Highway Department bears the cost of title insurance and pays the entire cost of appraisal work ordered by the Department. Checks for these items have already been forwarded from the Texas Highway Department to the parties concerned.

Santa Fe's Revenues
Second Largest In History Of Company

Santa Fe Railway's 1960 revenues were the second largest in the history of the company and represented a business volume that was not unfavorable in comparison with the general economic situation, President Ernest S. Marsh, reported in the railroad's annual report mailed today to its 103,194 stockholders. Total operating revenues were $614,017,338, or 3.1 percent under the record established in 1959.

Despite the favorable effects of record-breaking agricultural production, freight carloads fell 3.0 percent below 1959, producing revenues of $514,079,218. Passenger revenues showed an increase of 1.3 percent over the previous year, Marsh said, reflecting a continued patronage of transcontinental trains. Mail revenues rose 5.8 percent over 1959, assisted by an increase of 13 percent in rate effective September 1, 1960 while express revenue declined 16.9 percent.

Net income for the year was $51,596,697, a drop of 21.6 percent from 1959 earnings of $65,785,901 to $1.87 per common share compared to $2.45 in 1959.

Marsh mentioned several factors contributing to the decline in net income. Due to certain changes in the characteristics of freight handled, freight revenues declined while the physical traffic volume measured in revenue ton miles actually showed a slight increase.

Malone — High Point Man

Taylor, Georgetown, Yoe Take Annual Track Meet

The Taylor Ducks, Georgetown and Cameron's Fighting Yoemen swept the first three places in Cameron's annual 26th Invitational Track Meet held here Saturday.

For the second year in a row Yoe High speedster, Steve Malone won the high point man trophy with his 27 tallies.

Taylor racked in 139½ points, accounting for five first place finishes in the final events. Georgetown swapped one first place, in the mile relay. Most of their 55 points were garnered through second and third place finishes.

Steve Malone and Ed Lierman paced the Yoemen throughout the day. Malone's 27 points were more than half of the Yoemen's 53 tallies. He got first in the 180 yard low hurdles with a 21.2 time; second in the 120 yard high hurdles and high jump. His 18 foot, nine and three-fourths inch jump placed him sixth in the broad jumping.

A new record for the Cameron Relays was set by Georgetown's Mile Relay team. They ran a 3:31.4; the team members were Patterson, Alexan, Ronald and Donald Fox.

Outdoors In Texas

By Vern Sanford

You can add greatly to your outdoor enjoyment by making sure your boat and motor match and by keeping both in tiptop shape.

When you're buying a rig, take for which it will be used most frequently -- pleasure cruising, water skiing, fishing, etc. Obviously a rig designed for pulling water skiers isn't as outfit for serious fishing.

Then, too, when you purchase a rig make sure you get the correct horsepower motor.

Don't mount a 50 - horsepower job on a 14 - foot boat that is used solely on a 25 - acre lake. And of course if fishing is your main concern, a 10 - horse motor will do the job adequately. Then both the initial expense and the operating cost are lies.

When it comes to mounting the motor on the boat, the motor leg should be perpendicular to the surface of the water. When running through the water, the cavitation plate should knife cleanly.

If the motor is mounted so that the cavitation plate slants downward, here's what happens. When you pour on the power, your boat will dig at the stern. The bow will ride high. And instead of skimming over the water on plane, your boat will be pushing a wall of water. You won't be able to get good speed or a stable ride.

If the motor is mounted on the cavitation plate slants upward, the bow of the boat will have a tendency to dig into the water. Again you have great loss of speed. Also the ride will be unstable and dangerous.

So, the cavitation plate is much like the stabilizer on an airplane. For a smooth, even ride the angle of attack must be zero.

Assuming you have the motor mounted at the proper angle, the next thing to consider is the propeller.

Most large motors these days are sold without props. The dealer installs the correct pitch and diameter prop for your boat and load. This isn't a gimmick to run up the prices. It's just good common sense.

For example, a racing wheel is wholly unsuited for a fishing rig. And by the same token you wouldn't want a work prop mounted on a motor used for racing.

If you own a big motor and use it for different purposes, it would be wise to purchase two props -- or perhaps one of the new adjustable - pitch props. You can use the prop or pitch best suited for the boat load and purpose. In the long run you'll realize a savings in the amount of fuel used.

Specifications of a prop are given in terms of diameter and pitch. Diameter is determined simply by measuring the diameter of a circle formed by the tips of the blades.

Pitch is the distance the prop moves the boat during one complete revolution.

But remember to take slippage into consideration when referring to pitch. Let us say that the prop has a pitch of 10 inches. No. 1 Remember that the prop is pushing weight and the weight will determine the amount of slippage. With a general utility wheel, you can usually figure on the slippage amounting to 20 to 30 per cent. Slippage will increase with added weight and weight distribution within the hull. And slippage, of course, varies with speed.

Your outboard prop will collect a lot of nicks and dents in the course of operation. Nicks and dents on the leading edges of the blades result when the wheel strikes rocks, logs and other debris in the water.

These dents and nicks may appear to be minor, but they can have a pronounced effect on both boat and motor performance. You'll get excessive vibration and noise. And there have been cases when a badly damaged prop has vibrated fittings loose from both boat and motor. Even very small nicks and dents can cause excessive motor wear.

Have your prop checked periodically and realigned. It will go a long way toward lengthening the course, you'll get better performance and more enjoyment from outboarding.

If you boat a lot in rocky shoal waters, it's wise to carry along a spare prop. You can cause serious motor and boat damage by trying to run home with a prop that has a big chunk knocked out of a blade or one blade knocked way out of pitch.

iams acceptance speech. The invocation was given by the Rev. Kenneth C. Haley, pastor of the First Christian Church.

Clark, one of the state's top experts on government finance, noted that 35 states have a sales tax. He said nationally that a sales tax produces $4 billions annually, personal income $2 billions and corporate tax, $1 billion.

A 2 per cent sales tax would bring $100 millions a year, he said, and would cost $5,000 - a year wage earners 50 cents a week, those under $4,000 a year 20 cents a week and those over $10,000 a $1 per week.

Clark urged citizens to take an active interest in the type of tax program they favored, noting that it "is a serious problem."

"Another tax bill is inevitable," he said. "The state has a tax deficit of about $104 millions today (March 16)."

Clark noted that Texas is one of only three states that still have no sales or personal income tax. He attacked the inadequacy of selective taxes "which are patchwork pieces."

He emphasized that continued industrial expansion of Texas would be affected by the type of tax program approved by the Texas Legislature this year.

A wide representative of business, political and civic leaders from Central Texas attended the banquet. Chamber officers from Temple, Austin, Thorndale, Rockdale, Rosebud and other cities were introduced. Also attending was State Treasurer Jesse James, State Sen. Jarrard Secrest, State Rep. Herman Yezak and top officials of Capital National Bank in Austin, of which Clark is chairman of the board. Special guests were introduced by E. O. Schil-

Several property owners cited they had upto five overflows during the past four months. And they asked: "Why couldn't the water be held during rainy seasons until later in the year?"

West said it was "a matter of judgment" as to when water is to be released, according to regulations. He said also that rains have been heavier in the past three years since the drought period of 1941 - 1957. But later he said Belton Reservoir would have been more effective if other dams had been built above it first.

Those attending the meeting included: A. J. Smith, Wallace Culpepper, H. P. Culpepper, Nelson Davis, O. G. Tumlinson, John Davis, Hilliard Thamas, Alvin Nolte, Valter White, Oxsheer Smith, Sterling C. Evans, County Judge Don G. Humble, J. L. Lamkin, Joe Hickman, Clayton Barton, Bernadine Mueck, Lawrence Mueck, Erskin McDermott, Judd Davis, C. O. Angell, W. A. L. Robinson and John Henderson.

Also present were R. D. Collins, of the Brazos River Authority and James F. Flinn, a BRA attorney.

Yoemen Takes High Point Honor For Second In History

Only twice in the twenty-six year history of the Cameron Relays has a local Yoemen received the honor of bringing home a trophy marked "High Point Man." Both times this honor has gone to Steve Malone.

This broad shouldered, dark headed 17 year old youth, tallied 27 points in the Relays Saturday to account for more than half of the 53 Cameron tallies. The 27 points won him the high point man award for the second year in a row.

Competing against as tough competition on the high school level as anywhere in Central Texas made no difference to Malone. He won first place in the 180 yard low hurdles, second in the High's and High Jump, besides earning a third place in the broad jump.

Against twenty team competition last year he accounted for 17½ of the 21 Cameron points, making Jim Speer, track coach at that time, a very happy man indeed.

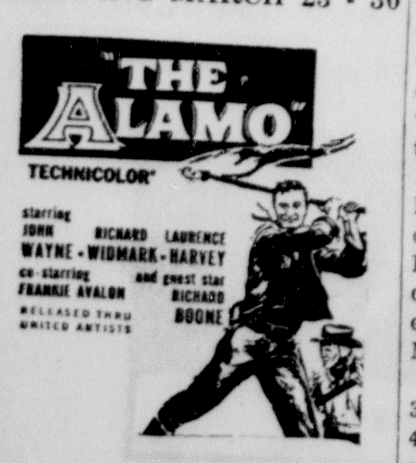

Equally versatile in any sport, Malone prefers basketball over all others. Jim Speer, Yoe coach from 1956-60 is credited with getting Malone out for the cinder sport last year.

Billy Bates and Wallace Johnson turned the trick this year. It's a puzzle to some people why Malone isn't more enthusiastic about sports.

"Don't get this boy wrong. His modesty goes almost to far. As he puts it, 'I'm just not cut out to be a hero.' From this viewpoint it looks like he has another think coming."

Scholastically Steve is a top ranking student in his junior class. His plans for the future aren't definite, although he can be assured there will be plenty of college anxious to get his signature on the dotted line.

Growth Coming To Small Towns . . .

"If the patterns of the past twenty years continue, the best thing to do is to stay in the small town and wait for growth to come."

These are the words of Steve Matthews, executive director of the Texas Municipal League, accompanying a release of municipal development in Texas, "For Texas: An Explosively Urban Decade."

We quote him further: "Far from being good advice, it may be very bad advice in Texas to encourage anybody to leave the small towns . . . (See entire story in nearby column.)"

Where does Cameron stand amid this phenomenon of urban boom? Does her 11 per cent growth in the past decade mean anything?

"Healthy signs" answers both questions. Cameron's ratio of the growth did not approach the phenomenal Rockdale percentage of 93.1 per cent, but Milam's county sent kept her relative position in her ranking of Texas cities: Cameron was 148th in 1950 and 168th in 1960. Rockdale rose from 270th to 204 even with the development of Alcoa.

The real phenomenon, says Matthews,

75% Of Texans Live In Cities

Texas metropolitan cities are not monopolizing growth - or opportunity - as Texas enters its most highly urbanized decade.

The Texas Municipal League reports that 75 percent of the people in Texas now live in cities. Half the city dwellers are in eleven cities. Within nine years, urbanization of Texas population will reach 80 percent.

The TML research experts point out, however, that growth is spread among all brackets of Texas cities. During the past ten years, 74 percent of the cities between 5,000 and 9,999 population increased in size. For cities in the 2,500 to 4,999 bracket, 71 per cent grew larger.

Sixty percent of the cities in the 1,000 to 2,499 category increased population. Among the smallest incorporated cities - those with less than 1,000 population - half of them increased in size during the decade.

Steve Matthews, Executive Director of the Texas Municipal League at Austin, believes that cities of all sizes should remember that in Texas "growth can happen anywhere."

Matthews pointed out that during the 1950's thirty - nine Texas cities and towns which began the decade with less than 10,000 population more than doubled by 1960. Four cities in this category increased population 1,000 percent - virtually doubling in size each year during the decade.

Among such cities, Irving jumped from 249th place in 1950 to rank as the 23rd largest city in Texas by 1960. Mesquite jumped from 335th place to 37th place. There are many other such examples.

"The growth performance of our largest cities in Texas has caused many to overlook the basic fact about our smaller communities," Matthews said. "First, well over a majority of the smaller towns in Texas have been growing steadily and this growth should continue. Secondly, the most

LITTLE RIVER PHILOSOPHER

Philosopher Corners City Man On Washington's Plan To Save Cities

Dear editor:

A friend of mine who went to grammar school with me and now lives in Austin came by this Johnson grass farm out here the other day and after parking his car carefully to avoid a stack of wire and posts I've been meaning to move since I left them there three or four years ago, got to kidding me about the farm situation.

"Well," he asked, after I'd showed him which side of the front step to step on without getting hit with the other end, "your government checks coming through on time every month? What's the support price now on Johnson grass? How much extra you getting this year to retire some more land? How you tell your retired land from your cultivated land? Just thought I'd stop by and see where us city folks' tax money is going."

I'm not much at talking, but I had been reading a newspaper earlier in the day so I asked him, "By the way, how much is Austin going to get out of the Administration's urban renewal program?"

"How's that?" he asked.

"Don't you keep up with the news?" I asked. "I see by the paper today that there's a drive on to save the cities. It's a fact. We got marginal cities the same as marginal farms. Looks like cities have been planted too thick, the same as crops. Here, read this."

I showed him the paper, which said President Kennedy has sent Congress a $3,250,000,000 (that's three and a quarter billion) bill to "save the cities," in the form of outright grants plus loans to "reinforce the big cities in their desperate struggle against blight and decay." Under the program, a city man could get a 40 - year mortgage with no down payment to build a house, in order to "upgrade decaying neighborhoods."

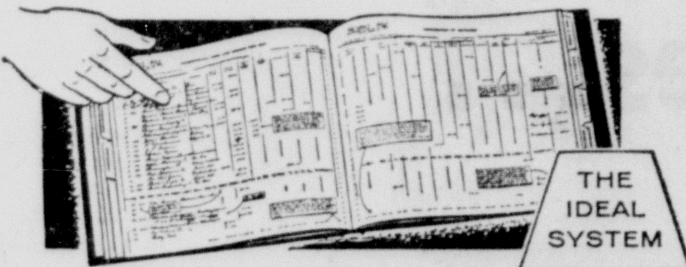

"What's the matter with you city folks?" I asked. "Can't you run your towns without help from Washington?"

"I don't think you have a true appreciation of what this particular piece of legislation is designed for," he said, or words to that effect, adding that he had to be going, it was getting late, and he sure enjoyed visiting with me.

I'm not saying the cities don't need this money. All I'm saying is that if I'm supposed to get a government check every month, what happened to it?

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Foes, Friends Act For Tax

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN — Foes of a general retail sales tax are pushing to get it before the Legislature. Friends of the tax are trying to hold it back.

At a hearing before the House Revenue and Taxation Committee, representatives of regional Chamber of Commerce, generally favorable to a sales tax, asked that the matter be delayed. Committee members opposed to the tax insisted on going ahead.

Rep. George Hinson of Mineola, who is against a sales tax, charged backers with dragging their feet in hopes their plan would finally be accepted in last-minute desperation.

Hearing was on a general sales tax measure by Rep. Charles N. Wilson of Trinity. Wilson introduced the bill and asked for immediate hearing to out - maneuver those who wanted to delay. After hearing, the bill was, by the usual procedure, sent to subcommittee.

Awaiting consideration is just about every type tax bill imaginable. Among them:

A temporary (1-year) 20 per cent increase in the omnibus tax (a collection of existing taxes on many items) by Representative Hinson. Estimated yield: $40,000,000

A one per cent corporate income tax by Rep. Charles Ballman of Borger and a three per cent corporate income tax by Rep. Tony Korioto of Sherman.

A 10 per cent levy on petrochemicals by Rep. Guffey of El Campo.

A six per cent tax on income from dividends and interest by Rep. Bob Eckhardt of Houston.

A two per cent Texas business invoice tax by Rep. Maco Stewart of Galveston.

A graduated production tax on oil, a corporate income tax to replace the franchise tax and an excise tax on utilities by Representative Stewart.

An increase in state college tuition from $50 to $100 per semester by Rep. Frank McGregor of Waco.

A three per cent sales tax on furniture and household equipment by Rep. John C. Alaniz of San Antonio.

A five per cent tax on gross receipts of highway contractors by Rep. W. T. Dungan of McKinney.

A five per cent tax on gross receipts from marine products by Rep. Jake Johnson of San Antonio.

FIREMEN'S BILL HELD LEGAL

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson has ruled that a proposed bill to set up machinery to arbitrate firemen's wage and hour problems would be constitutional.

Rep. Robert Hughes of Dallas is sponsor of the bill which would set up an arbitration board to work out disputes between firemen and city governments. Disputes not settled by the board could be taken to the people in an election once each year.

AUTO RATE BILL MOVES

A bill directing the State Board of Insurance to make drastic changes in the merit rating auto insurance plans has been approved by the Senate Insurance Committee.

Passage came after a lengthy hassle in committee. More heated debate and attempts to amend are expected when the bill is taken up by the entire Senate.

As approved by committee, the plan would still assess insurance premium penalties for speeding but not for running red lights or stop signs, making illegal turns, illegal passing or negligent collision. It would still assess penalties for accidents with damage of more than $25 and it would still be retroactive for three years.

Feed Bill Gets Detailed Working

By Cong. Bob Poage

After almost three weeks of continuous work on the Feed Grains Bill, the Conference Committee, of which I was one of the members, agreed on detailed wording last night.

The agreement substantially retains the House language except in Sec. 3, where, at the insistence of the Senate, we provided that the Secretary may sell into the market only the amount of grain represented by the certificates issued as payment - in - kind. Technically, these will be producers' certificates, not government grain but as we see it, the effect will be to enable the Secretary to maintain the feed grain market at approximately its present level (roughly $1.00 per bushel for corn).

This will take nothing from the non - cooperator because he can still grow all the grain he wants to and unless these non - cooperators overproduce they will be able to sell their grain for as much as it is now bringing. On the other hand, if there are enough producers who do cooperate to cause the market to go up, they and the taxpayers will reap the advantage of any increase in price which the program creates.

Surely this is fair because only the cooperators and the taxpayers will have contributed anything to cause the market to go up. It means that non - cooperators will not get a free ride at the expense of the government and more important, it is hoped that every producer will understand this at planning time and thereby be encouraged to cooperate.

The Conference Report will come before the House Tuesday morning. If it is approved, we anticipate the President will sign the legislation promptly. Even so, it will be too late for many of our Central Texas farmers to cooperate. They will, however, be helped as will the public in general, by a reduction in the surplus.

In the meantime the president has set up an Agricultural Message which suggests the use of almost exactly the same machinery which was provided last year in the "Family Farm Income Act of 1960" (Poage Bill). Basically, the President proposes, as we did last year, that farmers should, through their elected committees, work out program for their own commodities, submit them to Congress and if Congress finds them acceptable, allow the producers of each commodity to vote, as we now do on cotton allotments.

This proposal would allow farmers to use almost any method they wanted to so long as Congress was satisfied that it was fair to other parts of our economy. It would, of course, leave Congress with the power to pass any legislation it wanted to, but it would give farmers an assured method of getting programs before the Congress for consideration.

I Give You Texas

By Boyce House

This tribute was written by Will Rogers to his sister:

Today, as I write this, I am not in the Follies, the carefree comedian who jokes about everything. I am out in Oklahoma among my people, my Cherokee people, who don't expect a laugh for every thing I say. Back home at the funeral of my sister.

She and my other sister started in this little western town - Chelsea, Oklahoma - some 35 years ago. They helped build the Methodist Church, the first church there. They have helped every movement that they knew was for the best upbuilding of their community. They have each raised a large family of boys and girls who are today a credit to their community. They have carried on the same as thousands of women have carried on in every small and big town in the world. They don't think they are doing anything out of the ordinary. They don't want credit. They do good simply because they don't know any other thing to do.

Death didn't scare her. It was only an episode in her life. If you live right, death is a joke to you as far as fear is concerned.

After all, there is nothing in the world like home. You can roam all over the world, but after all, it's what the people at home think of you that really counts. I have just today witnessed a funeral that for real sorrow and affection I don't think will ever be surpassed anywhere. They came in every mode of conveyance, on foot in buggies, horseback, wagons, cars and trains and there wasn't a soul that came that she hadn't helped or favored at one time or another.

Some unformed newspaper printed: "Mrs. C. L. Lane, sister of the famous comedian, Will Rogers." They were greatly misinformed. It's the other way around. I am the brother of Mrs. C. L. Lane, "The Friend of Humanity." And all the honors that I could ever in my wildest dreams hope to reach, would never equal the honor paid on a little western Prairie hilltop, among her people, to Maud Lane. If they will love me like that at the finish, my life will not have been in vain.

POWER
FUTURE

Texas Power & Light Company is planning today for your electric power needs of 1970.

Typical of TP&L's continuing program of planned growth is its Valley Steam Electric Station which is now under construction near Savoy in Fannin County. This new generating plant is scheduled to be placed in operation in 1962, adding 125,000 kilowatts of electric energy to TP&L's power supply. Still other plants are already planned for the years ahead.

Texas Power & Light and the other investor-owned, tax-paying electric companies in the United States will continue to improve and expand their facilities through the use of private funds . . . not tax money . . . so there will always be an abundant supply of power available to meet the needs of present and future customers.
